EXPLORING A WORLD OF LEARNING ON THE WEB

Thursday, May 2, 2024

Time: 1:30 pm

ACC M. Briggs Center

Coordinator: Linda Ferguson

Phone: 402-679-7669

Have you pondered what bait to use when fishing for walleye? Have you sputtered when trying to replace a taillight on your vehicle? Do you lie awake at night wondering how they built those huge cathedrals? Let's learn about learning - get educated about getting educated - get schooled on school. Albert Einstein said, "Intellectual growth should commence at birth and cease only at death." The Association for Lifelong Learners has provided a means to keep our minds and bodies active and recharged. There are also other sources for adult learning available to us. We will explore a few of these in our time together. Come along and climb to educational heights you may not have known existed. Feel free to bring along your own sources to share with others in case they are new to me as well.

Jane Roose grew up on a farm in Long Rapids Township. She is married to Rob and has two smart, funny, beautiful adult daughters - Gina and Brooke. She has embraced educational opportunities throughout her life earning her first associate degree at ACC and worked toward a bachelor's degree at Lake State completing that goal at Northern Michigan University. Life took another turn and brought her family to Houghton and a 20-year career with Edward Jones. Now retired, she can quench her thirst for knowledge by joining ALL and finding educational opportunities online.

2023 FISHING ACCORD PUTS GREAT LAKES FISHERIES AT RISK

Monday, May 20, 2024

Time: 1:30 pm

ACC M. Briggs Center

Coordinator: Tom Hilberg

Phone: 989-464-5569

The audience will learn how the 2023 Consent Decree between the State of Michigan, the U.S., and six tribes of Chippewa/Ottawa Native Americans is probably unsustainable, and risks collapse of lake trout, lake whitefish, and other species. We will begin with an introduction to the status of Great Lakes fisheries and fish species, with a focus on Lake Huron. Lake whitefish have been the staple for commercial fisheries but are currently in a state of collapse in northern and central Lake Huron. Lake trout were extirpated from most of Lake Huron by overfishing and depredation by sea lampreys; they are far from recovery and only in the last 20 years have they been reproducing again. Invasion of the Great Lakes by zebra and quagga mussels, among a host of other exotic colonizers, has thoroughly disrupted the ecology of the lakes. Against this grim backdrop, the recently negotiated, court-ordered

Consent Decree opens the lakes to almost unbridled use of gill nets, one of the most indiscriminately lethal commercial gear types available to commercial fishers.

Jim Johnson graduated with a master's degree in Fisheries from Michigan State University. He spent 17 years as a fishery biologist with the states of Nebraska and Utah. From 1989-2014, he led the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Lake Huron Fisheries Research Station, in Alpena, retiring in 2014. Jim is currently serving on the Besser Museum for Northeast Michigan's Board of Trustees. He volunteers as the biological consultant to the Coalition to Protect Michigan Resources in negotiating sustainable fishing in 1836 Treaty waters in the northern Great Lakes.

Frank Krist graduated with a bachelor's degree in Fisheries from Michigan State University. After serving a term in the Army, he furthered his education by attending graduate school at Central Michigan University majoring in Chemistry and limnology. Frank and his wife Theresa moved to Rogers City in 1974 where they are still residents. Frank worked for District Health Department #4 for 32 years as an environmental health inspector. During their first year in Rogers City, Frank became a strong advocate for sustainable fisheries and providing fishing opportunities for all users. He has continued for 49 years to be a fishery advocate by Chairing two DNR Citizens Fisheries Advisory Committees. He represents the Hammond Bay Area Anglers Association as a member of the Coalition to Protect Michigan Resources which participated as an amicus during the negotiations of all three Consent Decrees. Frank, with the Coalition's attorneys for more than three years, has participated in nearly all the negotiation sessions of the newly implemented Consent Decree.

TOUR OF THE OLD ALPENA FLOUR MILL

Friday, May 31, 2024

Time: 10 am

Alpena Flour Mill 633 W. Campbell St., Alpena

Maximum #: 40

Coordinator: Jan Kane

Phone: 989-464-7107

In the building of a community, the flour mill was viewed as a community institution, a building in which everyone had an interest. Many residents have shared their memories of the flour mill with us over the years. They recall fondly of the days they “came to town with their father to have their grain ground into flour”. They recall the sounds and the smells of fresh grain emanating from this building.

Originally known as the Monarch Milling Company, ground was broken for this mill on November 12, 1914. In 2019 Robert and Sarah Rings purchased the Alpena Flour Mill to restore and use as a family business. A full-scale restoration/renovation of the mill was started in August 2021 by Robert, this was a MASSIVE undertaking for one man to complete by himself. All of the building restoration was completed by Robert, as a project of passion. The goal of this restoration/renovation was to bring the flour mill into modern times and ensure it would become a useful part of the Alpena Community for another 100 years. The commercial kitchen is housed in the back block portion of the building and was completed in 2022, which is when Robert commercially launched Olde Mill Coffee. Olde Mill Coffee is single-origin coffee roasted on a 100+-year-old coffee roaster produced by the A.J. Deer Company of Hornell, NY. There are currently only 4 of this style roaster known to exist and Robert is the only one roasting on one.

Come tour this amazing old building and hear Robert's ideas for the future!

Robert is an Alpena native who has had a variety of careers and is now living his passion for making local history come to life. Robert had collected Alpena advertising for a while and saw Alpena Flour Mill bags for sale on eBay, and it got him thinking, and found out it was for sale. His wife Sarah was also interested in starting a family business, as she grew up working for her aunt and uncle who owned Jack's Landing. The purchase was finalized in December 2019 and it has been a work in progress since. It has been a roller coaster of emotion, doubt, and a huge amount of cash.

But now, on the verge of opening to the public in a 110-year-old building, he has single-handedly been brought into modern times but has kept its original feel.
